Multitasking for the project is essential in order to get a headstart on as many issues as possible. There are always delays caused by the schedules of various parties, weather, and unanticipated circumstances. Proactive and persistent contact with government agencies is essential in keeping tasks moving forward. Having one individual to oversee and understanding all aspects of the project is beneficial for keeping the tasks on schedule. Integration of the tasks by team meetings helps the coordinator have a firm grasp of the tracking and understanding of the reporting requirements.
