To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to convey my organization's support of Connected Tennessee's Broadband Technology Opportunity Programs (BTOP) grant application benefiting their Computers 4 Kids (C4K) program.

Our organization will partner with Connected Tennessee through their proposed project to ensure that at-risk kids across Tennessee see the benefits of broadband and technology. Through their efforts, the children served by our organization will receive updated computers as well as much needed computer literacy and educational opportunities.

Our organization, Boys & Girls Clubs of Bristol will partner with Connected Tennessee in the following ways:

- Developing a detailed strategic plan for installation of the computers into the computer lab areas at our club site, with guidance and input from Connected Tennessee.
- Having the Director of Information Technology, who is responsible for technology maintenance at our organization, to work with the professionals from Connected Tennessee, to install the computers and software on each of the computers in each site's computer lab.
- Having the Director of Information Technology, who is responsible for technology at our organization, to provide year-round updates and maintenance on the computers as needed.
- Having our full-time and part-time Club professionals at each Club site deliver computer literacy and educational opportunities year-round to the at-risk youth who attend the Club.
- Implementing our Club Tech, Digital Arts, and NetSmartz Internet safety programs at the Club, using the new computers at the Club site.
- Working with Connected Tennessee to ensure internet connectivity and access using the new computers, so that atrisk youth may access to the internet.

Led by Governor Phil Bredesen, Connected Tennessee is a publicprivate partnership that is working with key entities across the state to ensure better broadband access and computer literacy. To accomplish this, Connected Tennessee uses collaborative broadband mapping, local research, grassroots technology planning in every county and computer connectivity programs.

PLEASE REMEMBER THE BOYS & GIRLS CLUB OF BRISTOL IN YOUR ESTATE PLANS

To date, the C4K program has distributed more than 2,000 computers to children, families and community-based organizations in need across Tennessee. With the support of funds made available through the BTOP program, many more children will be impacted, including children from our community.

As we work together toward economic recovery, it is critical for the federal government to offer funding and support to existing programs which have proven effective in making computers and technology a reality for all Tennesseans, regardless of income and age.

Thank you for your consideration.

I am writing to convey my organization's support of Connected Tennessee's Broadband Technology Opportunity Programs (BTOP) grant application benefiting their Computers 4 Kids (C4K) program.

Our organization will partner with Connected Tennessee through their proposed project to ensure that at-risk kids across Tennessee see the benefits of broadband and technology. Through their efforts, the children served by our organization will receive updated computers as well as much needed computer literacy and educational opportunities.

Our organization, Boys & Girls Clubs of the Comberland Plateau will partner with Connected Tennessee in the following ways:

- Developing a detailed strategic plan for installation of the computers into the computer lab areas at our two club sites, with guidance and input from Connected Tennessee.
- Having the Technology Director, who is responsible for technology maintenance at our organization, to work with the professionals from Connected Tennessee, to install the computers and software on each of the computers in each site's computer lab.
- Having the Technology Director, who is responsible for technology at our organization, to provide year-round updates and maintenance on the computers as needed.

To accomplish this, Connected Tennessee uses collaborative broadband mapping, local research, grassroots technology planning in every county and computer connectivity programs.

To date, the C4K program has distributed more than 2,000 computers to children, families and community-based organizations in need across Tennessee. With the support of funds made available through the BTOP program, many more children will be impacted, including children from our community.

As we work together toward economic recovery, it is critical for the federal government to offer funding and support to existing programs which have proven effective in making computers and technology a reality for all Tennesseans, regardless of income and age.

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to convey my organization's support of Connected Tennessee's Broadband Technology Opportunity Programs (BTOP) grant application benefiting their Computers 4 Kids (C4K) program. This is a wonderful program that brings the technology of today to many people who would otherwise not have this opportunity. This is especially important to organizations such as the Boys & Girls Club as we serve children, especially those from socially and economically disadvantaged circumstances that might not have this opportunity if not for the Connected Tennessee's Broadband Technology Opportunity Program.

Our organization, the Boys & Girls Club of Greeneville & Greene County, will partner with Connected Tennessee through their proposed project to ensure that at-risk kids across Tennessee see the benefits of broadband and technology. Through their efforts, the children served by our organization will receive updated computers as well as much needed computer literacy and educational opportunities. The More computer literate kids are at an early age, the more they will know (and be able to learn) down the road. Familiarizing oneself with the capabilities of a computer, including its external properties, how to use software, and how to use the Internet, will not only instill that person with knowledge, but will also make him or her more able to intuitively solve computer-related problems and teach oneself new software and properties later on in life.

Our organization, Boys & Girls Clubs of Greeneville & Greene County will partner with Connected Tennessee in the following ways:

- Developing a detailed strategic plan for installation of the computers into the computer lab areas at our club site, with guidance and input from Connected Tennessee.
- Having the club volunteer, where the whore is responsible for technology maintenance at our organization, to work with the professionals from Connected Tennessee, to install the computers and software on each of the computers in each site's computer lab.
 Install the computer consulting firm with 30 years of experience and volunteers for our club as our IT troubleshooter/professional throughout the year.
- Having the IT volunteer who is responsible for technology at our organization, to provide year-round updates and maintenance on the computers as needed.
- Having our full-time and part-time Club professionals at each Club site deliver computer literacy and educational opportunities year-round to the at-risk youth who attend the Club.
- Implementing our Club Tech, Digital Arts, general computer applications and NetSmartz Internet safety programs at our Boys & Girls Club, using the new computers at the Club site.
- Working with Connected Tennessee to ensure internet connectivity and access using the new computers, so that at-risk youth may access to the internet.
